Sylvie + Chris were right when they said that I would feel right at home. (same dining room chairs, beautiful mountains, fresh air + just reminded me of my homeland - Switzerland.
Thanks for sharing your home ☺

As I sit here on your porch and listen to the humming birds flutter their wings and the birds chirp away while I watch the far away ocean beyond the mountains and feel the cheerful breeze, I realize that this (your cabin) is a major part of my idea of an 'ideal vacation'. Although my family and I (10 of us) stayed here for only 2 nights, I have grown to love this dwelling inside and out; from the amazing view in the telescope at night to the great collection of books in the downstairs library and even the little paintings near the bathroom. Thanks for the great stay! PS - I aspire to be an environmental research scientist when I grow up and your cabin is wonderful for nature lovers like me... it helped reassure me that my dreams are possible ☺

~ How to have a memorable cabin trip ~

- High-center your car at the end of the driveway
- Spend 2 hours digging said car out of snow
- Lock yourself out of the cabin
- Contemplate eating your friends for food
- Make frantic phone calls with low cell phone battery / low reception
- Break into cabin using small shovel to jimmy sauna window
- Apologize to friends for high-centering your car and locking everyone out
- Turn on sauna and allow problems to evaporate in the heat
- Settle in for a movie and tasty snacks
- Have the storm knock out power to cabin & neighbors & DVD player
- Read aloud from "The Ice Storm" under kerosene lanterns Looks like we succeeded in hitting them all! Chuck, we'd like to THANK YOU for the hospitality, we really enjoyed ourselves in your beautiful cabin. We've donated The Brothers Grimm to your movie collection. All the Best!

~~TRASH~~ weekend - 2-3 feet of snow!

4-11 Jan 2002 Kel, As a Florida Bator this was my first mountain experience. The summit was like looking through a stained glass window into heaven. Only our Creator could paint a canopy so spectacularly and wondrous. You are truly blessed to have such a place with such a view. When one stays here how could they not believe in God. I thank SGT Walter K. Crews, U.S. Army
